Is Veritas the right fit for my family?

VERITAS

You may not have a title or definition for your educational philosophy, but you will recognize it when you see it! That is why the model and philosophy at Veritas helps define how the program can work for your students.

Veritas adheres to the principles of a University Model School. By definition "A University-Model® school is a Christian, college-preparatory school which blends aspects of private and home schooling. Students meet on campus two days per week, and complete lessons at home on alternate days under the direction of professional teachers, with parents serving as co-teachers." Veritas is honored to partner with parents by aiding instruction with class days, selecting a Christian Worldview curriculum, grading, and preparing weekly lesson plans. It is a unique hybrid approach to education that allows for a high level of parental involvement with full guidance and aid from Veritas instructors.

Veritas is committed to Classical education. This educational philosophy has been effective since its implementation during the time of the ancient Greeks.

"Classical education depends on a three-part process of training the mind. The early years of school are spent in absorbing facts, systematically laying the foundations for advanced study. In the middle grades, students learn to think through arguments. In the high school years, they learn to express themselves. This classical pattern is called the trivium."

(What Is Classical Education? - Well-Trained Mind (welltrainedmind.com))

Classical education perfectly aligns with the stages of brain development in children and implements mastery-based instruction, teaches critical thinking, and effective communication.

THE STAGES OF CLASSICAL EDUCATION

THE GRAMMAR, LOGIC, AND RHETORIC STAGES OF LEARNING ARE AN OUTSTANDING TIME-PROVEN EDUCATIONAL PROCESS DEDICATED TO CULTIVATING LIFELONG, INDEPENDENT LEARNERS.

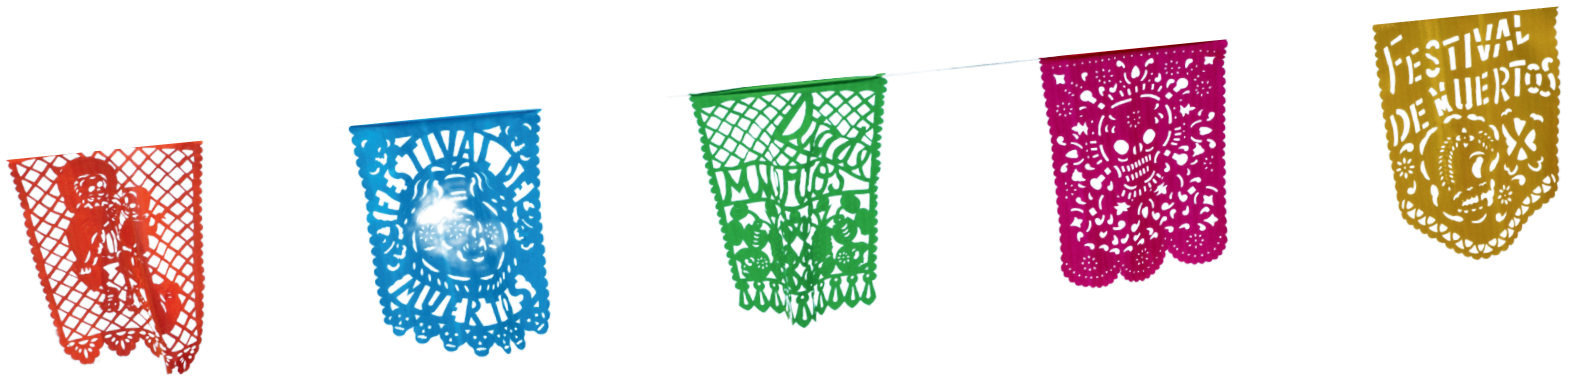

"The first years of schooling are called the "grammar stage" ... these are the years in which the building blocks for all other learning are laid, just as grammar is the foundation for language. In the elementary school years... the mind is ready to absorb information. Children at this age actually find memorization fun. So, during this period, education involves not self-expression and self-discovery, but rather the learning of facts. Rules of phonics and spelling, rules of grammar, poems, the vocabulary of foreign languages, the stories of history and literature, descriptions of plants and animals and the human body, the facts of mathematics — the list goes on. This information makes up the "grammar," or the basic building blocks, for the second stage of education."

"The second phase of the classical education, the "Logic Stage," is a time when the child begins to pay attention to cause and effect, to the relationships between different fields of knowledge relate to the way facts fit together into a logical framework. A student is ready for the Logic Stage when the capacity for abstract thought begins to mature...and begins to apply logic to all academic subjects. The logic of writing, for example, includes paragraph construction and learning to support a thesis; the logic of reading involves the criticism and analysis of texts, not simple absorption of information; the logic of history demands that the student find out why the War of 1812 was fought, rather than simply reading its story; the logic of science requires that the child learn the scientific method."

"The final phase of a classical education, the "Rhetoric Stage," builds on the first two. At this point, the high school student learns to write and speak with force and originality. The student of rhetoric applies the rules of logic learned in middle school to the foundational information learned in the early grades and expresses his conclusions in clear, forceful, elegant language. "

DYSLEXIA PROGRAM

Statistically, ONE IN FIVE students is impacted by dyslexia. It is one of the most underserved populations in education with few resources available, with private availability outpricing most families. Veritas is committed to identifying and providing affordable solutions to improve reading for those students who are struggling readers. The dyslexia program at Veritas has been serving the Memphis Metro since 2013. There are two tiers of service that include a comprehensive screening for dyslexia as well as dyslexia tutoring. Students enrolled in the mainstreamed classes can receive in house tutoring and/or online tutoring and are eligible for accommodations and modifications to the curriculum.

Services

Dyslexia Screening

Includes a comprehensive 10-tool test conducted in-person or online that identifies dyslexia.

Includes parent interview, student testing and results meeting.

Oral Report ($200.00) or Written Report ($400.00) available.

Dyslexia Tutoring

Comprehensive Orton-Gillingham tutoring offered for enrolled students and after-school placement for private and public-school students. Tutoring schedule based on individual needs of student and is conducted one-on-one.
